Re: UMG Records, Inc. et al. v. RCN Telecom Services, LLC, et al.
Civil Action No. 3:19-cv-17272-RK-TJB

Dear Judge Bongiovanni,

This firm represents Plaintiffs in the above-referenced action. Pursuant to the Stipulation and Order entered on August 12, 2024, Plaintiffs submit this letter seeking an order compelling RCN to produce the remaining “Category 1 Documents” RCN is continuing to withhold from production, or has produced with redactions, based on a claim of privilege. See ECF No. 272. While the parties have met and conferred regarding these documents, as directed by the Court’s June 21, 2024 order (the “June 2024 Order”), see ECF No. 263 at 3, they are unable to resolve their remaining disputes without further Court intervention.

I. Background

The relevant procedural background is already familiar to the Court. See generally ECF 194 at 1–4; ECF 224 at 1–3. This discovery dispute stems from RCN’s improper attempts to secrete almost all of its communications about critical fact issues in this case, including RCN’s knowledge of its subscribers’ infringing conduct and RCN’s development and implementation of its so-called Digital Millenium Copyright Act (“DMCA”) Policy, without ever supporting its privilege assertions with any competent evidence.

The dispute regarding the particular category of documents at issue here—the first category of documents addressed in the June 2024 Order (the “Category 1 Documents”)—dates back to 2021, when Plaintiffs challenged RCN’s withholding of 780 communications from RCN’s document production as privileged even though they were communications that either did not include attorneys or only nominally did so (i.e., the communications copied attorneys who did not participate in the conversation).<sup>1</sup> See ECF 194 at 9–13; ECF 194-5 (summary exhibit of challenged documents). Over the course of extensive briefing on this issue, RCN supported its privilege assertions solely with uncorroborated representations from its counsel. At no point did RCN ever proffer any evidence to support its claim that these communications were privileged despite not including, or only nominally including, attorneys. Despite this critical shortcoming, the Court eventually ordered Plaintiffs to select 30 of those 780 communications for an in camera review. ECF 205 at 11–12.

In June 2022, Plaintiffs objected to RCN’s improper withholding of an additional 552 documents from the custodial file of its CEO, Jim Holanda, on the same grounds. See ECF 224 at 7; ECF 224-3 (summary exhibit of challenged documents). RCN again failed to provide any evidentiary support for its claim that Mr. Holanda’s documents were privileged and again relied solely on uncorroborated representations by its counsel.

During oral argument on the parties’ discovery disputes, the Court indicated that any ruling on the in camera review documents would be limited to those specific documents and that the parties should endeavor to apply the Court’s rulings on the in camera review documents. See ECF 244 at 52:17–53:9. On June 21, 2024, the Court ruled on the in camera review documents, finding that 4 of the 30 documents were not privileged and must be produced.<sup>2</sup> ECF 263 at 2–3. The Court instructed the parties to confer as to the remaining Category 1 Documents in dispute. Id. at 3.

RCN, however, has continued to withhold hundreds of documents relevant to key issues in this case. On July 29, 2024, RCN purported to apply the Court’s ruling on the 30 in camera documents to the remaining Category 1 Documents by producing 361 additional documents. Plaintiffs’ review of those documents confirmed that RCN lacked any good-faith basis to withhold them as privileged in the first instance. The vast majority of those communications were routine correspondence among non-lawyer employees at RCN attempting to identify the account numbers associated with DMCA notices RCN received. In other words, RCN’s production confirmed what Plaintiffs have suspected all along, namely that RCN included attorneys on communications concerning DMCA notices as a matter of course, even when the communications were not remotely legal in nature, and then made unjustified privilege assertions solely based on the attorneys’ inclusion on the email chains.

<sup>1</sup> In its prior submissions Plaintiffs calculated the number of disputed “communications” by counting an entire document family (comprising an email and its attachments) as a single communication. See ECF 194 at 10 nn.16–18; ECF 194-5 (Exhibit 3). Because RCN has since produced some incomplete document families, that use of the term “communications” is confusing and inappropriate. Accordingly, Plaintiffs now refer instead to the number of remaining disputed “documents.”

<sup>2</sup> Pursuant to the Stipulation and Order entered July 8, 2024, Plaintiffs’ time to appeal the Court’s decision on the 26 other in camera review documents is tolled pending the Court’s resolution of the Plaintiffs’ remaining objections to RCN’s withholding of Category 1 Documents. See ECF 265.

Further, and critically, RCN's July 29, 2024 production did not include any emails to, from, or copying Mr. Holanda, despite his documents comprising nearly half of the challenged Category 1 Documents.

Given the unsubstantiated nature of RCN's privilege assertions, Plaintiffs maintain their objections to RCN's withholding or redaction of the rest of the Category 1 Documents. Critically, and dispositively, RCN has continued to refuse to make any evidentiary proffer whatsoever to justify its withholding or redaction of these documents. And while RCN's counsel has provided Plaintiffs with additional short descriptions of the 26 in camera review documents it is continuing to withhold, Plaintiffs have no information on the rest of the rest of the Category 1 Documents beyond the cursory and self-serving descriptions in RCN's privilege log. Thus, Plaintiffs are left with no ability to meaningfully confer with RCN on how to apply the Court's rulings to the rest of the Category 1 Documents.

RCN continues to withhold or improperly redact nearly 800 documents based on a claim of attorney-client privilege despite no attorneys being copied on the email or attorneys only nominally being included. Because RCN is improperly withholding key documents from production without satisfying its burden to prove such withholding is permissible, Plaintiffs request that the Court ensure that RCN complies with its discovery obligations and produce all non-privileged communications.

II. Argument

The Court should order RCN to produce all the remaining withheld or redacted Category 1 Documents. Because the Court's June 2024 Order ruled only on the 30 documents submitted in camera, there are 778 remaining Category 1 Documents still in dispute.<sup>3</sup> Addressing all of these documents on a categorical basis is necessary because RCN has failed to meet its burden to establish that any of these documents are actually privileged.

All the remaining Category 1 Documents either include no attorneys at all or simply copy attorneys who did not participate in the discussion.<sup>4</sup> It is thus RCN's burden to show that the documents are nevertheless privileged. But throughout this litigation, in defiance of clear legal precedent, RCN has never proffered any evidence at all in any of its briefing on any aspect of this

<sup>3</sup> The full list of remaining disputed documents is set forth in an Appendix to this letter. The list includes documents which RCN has produced but improperly redacted. For example, RCN's most recent privilege log, attached to this letter as Exhibit A, indicates that RCN has produced RCNPriv2996, but the document is almost entirely redacted.

<sup>4</sup> Plaintiffs refer the Court to their previous briefing explaining why RCN's withholding of hundreds of internal communications as privileged—despite them not including any attorneys at all or including attorneys who never participated in the underlying discussion—fails to comply with Third Circuit black letter law. See ECF 194 at 10–12; ECF 200 at 7–9; ECF 224 at 7; ECF 227 at 7.

years-long privilege dispute, including (but not limited to) the Category 1 Documents. Courts within this Circuit routinely hold that unsworn attorney statements lacking any corroborating affidavits or other evidence cannot satisfy a party's burden to support a privilege claim. See In re Am. Med. Collection Agency, Inc., Customer Data Sec. Breach Litig., 2023 WL 8595741, at *6 (D.N.J. Oct. 16, 2023); see also Int'l Paper Co. v. Fibreboard Corp., 63 F.R.D. 88, 93 (D. Del. 1974). For example, in In re American Medicine, the court rejected the withholding party's claim of attorney-client privilege when it failed to submit "any reliable evidence," such as an affidavit, to justify its invocation of the attorney-client privilege. 2023 WL 8595741, at *6–7. Rather, the party seeking to withhold documents must make an affirmative "evidentiary showing based on competent evidence [which] . . . cannot be discharged by mere conclusory or ipse dixit assertions." Greene, Tweed of Del., Inc. v. DuPont Dow Elastomers, L.L.C., 202 F.R.D. 418, 423 (E.D. Pa. 2001).<sup>5</sup>

RCN's complete failure even to attempt to make an evidentiary showing is particularly glaring in light of RCN's history throughout this litigation of making unsupported representations to this Court that have repeatedly been proven false. See, e.g., ECF 194 at 1–9; ECF 200 at 1–3; ECF 224 at 1–3; ECF 260. For example, RCN initially contended that its CEO did not have any responsive documents, ECF 194 at 1–9, a representation that was squarely disproved only through third-party discovery. See ECF 224 at 1–3. RCN also misrepresented what role JP Morgan and Morgan Stanley played during the sale of RCN from one private equity firm to another in 2020. See ECF 260.

RCN's most recent production further illustrates the danger of relying on RCN's unsupported attorney assertions to conclude that RCN has met its burden to withhold any of the remaining Category 1 Documents. For example, RCN initially withheld two emails, attached to this letter as Exhibits B and C, based on a claim that they "reflect[ed] legal advice and analysis regarding DMCA policy and process." See ECF 194-5 at RCNPriv1066; id. at RCNPriv0904–RCNPriv0912. When RCN produced those emails, however, they did not reflect any legal advice whatsoever. Instead, the emails simply reflected communications from RCN's Customer Care team trying to respond to a customer inquiry and track down which account was connected to a DMCA notice. See Exhibit B at RCN30021209; Exhibit C at RCN30021219. While the Customer Care team copied RCN's in-house counsel on the emails, no attorney contributed to the conversation, which is unsurprising because no legal advice was sought or given. See id. The rest of RCN's recent production likewise consists of documents for which there was never any conceivable basis to withhold in the first place.

<sup>5</sup> This Court has recognized RCN's failure to meet its evidentiary burden in other aspects of the parties' privilege disputes. In May 2023, the Court recognized that RCN had "not met their burden of establishing that the common interest privilege applies" to that category of disputed documents. See ECF 247 at 11. Judge Kirsch affirmed that order, noting that RCN failed to establish that a memorandum sent between non-attorneys at a company and its corporate parent were protected by the common interest privilege. ECF 273 at 9.

Against this backdrop, it is impossible for Plaintiffs to meaningfully confer with RCN concerning the hundreds of Category 1 Documents that RCN is continuing to withhold. RCN has provided no evidence that any of those documents are privileged, and Plaintiffs should not be required to accept on faith RCN's privilege log descriptions and other unsupported representations, especially given RCN's history of making false representations to justify its withholding. Nor do the Court's rulings on the 30 in camera documents supply a basis for privilege determinations on the remaining documents. Those 30 documents were not representative of the universe of disputed documents. Rather, they were a random sample chosen by Plaintiffs based solely on the cursory descriptions RCN provided in its privilege log. Further, those 30 documents did not include any documents from Mr. Holanda's files because, at the time they were selected, the parties' dispute concerning the withholding of Mr. Holanda's documents had not yet ripened.

The remaining Category 1 Documents at issue are directly relevant to the key factual issues in this case: RCN's knowledge of infringement on its network and its attempts to implement a repeat infringer policy under the DMCA. But RCN has entirely failed to satisfy its evidentiary burden to prove that those documents are privileged despite the undisputed fact that they do not include any attorneys or copy them only nominally. RCN's unsupported privilege log descriptions and other assertions have repeatedly been shown to be false and in any event are insufficient to justify withholding under black letter precedent. Accordingly, the Court should resolve Plaintiffs' objections regarding the remaining Category 1 Documents on a categorical basis and compel RCN to produce all of those documents.

III. Conclusion

Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court grant the relief described above. We remain available at the Court's convenience should Your Honor have any questions or wish to discuss this request further.

Respectfully submitted,
